

Saturday, March 28, 2:30 p.m.

Meet the Neighbors @ Mulberry Street

At Home in the World: Morocco

You don't need a visa...come experience the tastes and sights of Morocco!

Zakaria Adnani, mountain guide, eco-tourism activist, and native of Morocco's Atlas mountains, will prepare tagine and discuss Moroccan cuisine. Local artist and photographer Barbara Anello-Adnani will show a DVD and talk about her work with the U.S. Peace Corps.

You'll see a photo tour of a Morocco that tourists never see: Berber culture in the Middle Atlas mountains, a bride in the Dedes valley, Ait Ben Haddou, a fortified Kasbah in the Ouarzazat region, the famous Gnaoua music festival in Essaouira and the Heyduz Festival in Ain Leuh.

RSVP at the library, by phone at 212-966-3424, or email mulberry_branch@nypl.org.

Mulberry Street Branch
10 Jersey Street (one block south of Houston between Mulberry & Lafayette Sts.)
New York, New York 10012-3332
212-966-3424

Fully Accessible

THE BRANCH LIBRARIES

The New York Public Library
www.nypl.org

All New York Public Library programs are free of charge.